Search starts again for new library site

The Minden Library Committee is being forced to seek a different location for the municipality's new library. The group, which appeared before township council Wednesday evening, explained that soil tests taken at the proposed location on Bobcaygeon Road indicate the ground is unsuitable for the type of building.

Ruth Gorrie, speaking on behalf of the committee, told the councillors that soil tests carried out by the Ministry of Housing, when they were searching for a site for the senior citizens apartment complex, had been used. "The soil tests did not pass the requirements for an apartment complex, and they indicate the area is unsuitable for a library as well," she commented.

She suggested that a location beside the present municipal building be considered as an alternative. Gorrie said that location would be suitable for the library as it was central, there was parking available in the area and there was more traffic than at the proposed location.

However, she also expressed concern that there had been problems with the construction of the municipal building. She wondered if an attempt to construct the library might not be plagued with the same difficulties.

Reeve Sinclair Nesbitt noted that all buildings in Minden Village require either pilings or floating slab construction. He suggested that since it had once been planned to connect the township offices with the former arena (which was located to the east of the township offices) that soil tests should be available for that land. The council instructed by-law enforcement officer Dick Schell to locate those tests and make them available to the library committee for study.

The reeve also pointed out that a piece of property on Bobcaygeon Road North, near the cemetery had been offered to the municipality as a site for a new library. While the general consensus was that this location was too far from the centre of town, the committee will also look into the possibility of using it now that the proposed site has been abandoned.

A third possibility, locating the library on the fair grounds adjacent to the tennis courts will also be examined.

Committee member Irene Moore expressed concern with these two locations. "We got a lot of slack from people because of the proposed location on Bobcaygeon Road north. They said it was too far from town," Moore commented. "We can expect a lot more if we build even farther from the centre of the community."

The possibility of "floating" the building on a slab of concrete is also being investigated by the committee, although there is some question as to whether that method would be acceptable to the provincial authorities. According to several councillors that method is one way to overcome the wet conditions experienced throughout the flood plain area of Minden.

(The meeting was told that the present liquor store was built in such a manner. Rather than driving piles to give the building a solid footing a heavily reinforced floor of cement with thick footings around the outside was poured over an 18 inch thick slab of styrofoam. The foam provides the buoyancy for the structure and the building actually "floats" on this pad.)

Councillor Lyle McKnight said that if the provincial government, which will be providing a large portion of the funding for the library, is willing to approve this method of construction, the library could be located almost anywhere in the community. "If the province won't go for it, we're in trouble."

Reeve Nesbitt noted, "We can't wait much longer on this project. We must take one route or the other."

The committee will meet Thursday evening (January 31) to hear the feasibility study on the new library. It was hoped that more information would be available at that time as to the suitability of the site next to the township hall for the new library and whether the Ontario government would accept slab construction methods for the new building.

Carnival royalty

With beaming smiles, these four young ladies have just been named Queens and Princesses of the Minden Winter Carnival. The selections were made Friday evening after judges narrowed down their choices from a record number of entrants. This year's carnival royalty include, from the left, Junior Princess Glenda Newell, Senior Queen Lorie Rolfe, Senior Princess Nancy Kinsman and Junior Queen Tara Davies. More carnival details on page 5 and a Carnival scrapbook on pages 8 and 9.

Snowarama delayed for 3 weeks

The Minden-Haliburton Snowarama has been postponed to later in February. The delay was announced Monday night by co-ordinator Lionel Walker.

He said the annual event, which is held in co-operation with the Ontario Society for Crippled Children to raise money for the organization, had to be postponed due to a lack of snow.

"There is snow on the ground and probably enough for individuals to enjoy a ride on the trails," the co-ordinator told the Minden Rotary Club meeting Monday evening. "However, if there were several hundred riders going over the same trail in a day the path would quickly turn to mud in some locations."

He told the meeting that there had been plans to postpone the event for a week, but it was felt putting the event back three weeks to February 24, would be the only way of ensuring there is enough snow for the event. It was pointed out that the snowmobile run would conflict with the Haliburton Winter Carnival if it were held on the second weekend of the month.

The 100 kilometre run is sponsored jointly by the Minden and Haliburton Rotary Clubs.

There had been some suggestion that the event might have to be cancelled this year in the area because of the lack of snow. Walker said he hoped the delay to later in February would ensure enough snow so the run could be held. "We met with the provincial organizer of the Snowarama, Whipper Billy Watson, earlier last week," Walker told the gathering. "He indicated that if the event had to be cancelled in this area the retired wrestler would honour all the pledges gathered by riders in the Haliburton area and ride for them in another Snowarama in the province."

Organizers of the local event were informed Thursday at a press conference, that the Snowarama fund raising drives held throughout the province, are the second largest money raisers for the Ontario Society for Crippled Children. The Easter Seal campaign ranks at the top. At the meeting held at the PineStone Inn, Watson said the provincial and federal governments should be paying more attention to the needs of handicapped in Canada. He mentioned that the federal government refused to offer financial support for an olympic games for the handicapped even though a large share of the funding for the regular olympic athletes comes from that source. The former wrestler also pointed out the heavy financial burden which families of handicapped children must bear. He said there were many additional expenses, such as for transportation or renovations to a home to accommodate wheel chairs or the needs of the handicapped, which can create a financial burden.

As the originator of the Snowarama concept of fund raising for crippled children, Watson praised the co-operative effort of the Minden and Haliburton Rotary Clubs.

Thin ice claims another victim

Police are continuing their search for a Scarborough man believed drowned in Gull Lake January 27.

The local OPP detachment was notified on Saturday afternoon that the man, 32 year old Robert Fulcher, was missing. He had last been seen snowmobiling on the frozen surface of Gull Lake near the entrance of the Gull River. A search by the OPP discovered the tracks of a snowmobile leading to a patch of open water.

Police divers recovered the snowmobile driven by the missing man from the lake bottom but were unable to locate his body.

Prior to the police being notified four friends of Fulcher conducted a search on the lake for their missing friends. Three of them broke through the ice but were able to scramble free.

Police are now presuming that the man went down with his machine and is presumed drowned.

Four candidates seek your vote

There will be four candidates seeking your vote in the February 18 federal election. The final date for candidate registration passed earlier this week.

According to John Bovie, returning officer for the Victoria-Haliburton constituency, the following candidates have qualified to stand in the up-coming vote: Patrick Daniel, NDP; John Hayes, Liberatorian; Ivan Rodd, Liberal; and Bill Scott, Conservative.

The returning officer noted that the registration of voters is continuing smoothly. Bovie said he thought the strike by Bell Canada telephone operators could be having an impact on the number of inquiries being received by his officers in Lindsay. "I assume there are some people who are not willing to spend the money for a long distance call to reach my office or who are unable to get an operator for a collect long distance call. Chances are there are those who would give up in frustration after a number of attempts."

The returning officer noted that the Haliburton County portion of the riding is considered to be a rural riding and voters who find they are not on the voters list may be allowed to vote February 18 if someone who is on the list is willing to swear that they are residents of the riding.

Bovie also commented that the work involved in removing voters from lists, those people who have moved out of the area since the last federal election was held in May 1979, was proving to be more work than originally anticipated. This, however, is an internal matter for the various returning officers across the country.

This is the second election for Bovie.

"There are minor problems that crop up with any election," the returning officer stated, "but the final goal of our efforts, getting the ballots and the ballot boxes to the proper places come February 18, will be done."

FROM THE CHAMBER

By Bob Stinson

Following the severe tourism drought we have experienced since the first of January it was gratifying to see the county overflowing with visitors once again this week-end. The more seasonable weather of course played a part in this, but the major factor was the attraction of the Minden Winter Carnival and Pee Wee Hockey Tournament in Haliburton.

It is estimated that the Hockey tournament brings in at least 300 parents along with 250 players. They spend, on the average, $150 each while they are here, creating a $45,000 boost to our local economy. In addition it generates funds which assist in the operation of the programs carried on by Haliburton Minor Hockey and the Lake Kashagawigamog Tourist Association.

The impact of the carnival is not as readily assessed, because it generates visits from cottagers and year-round residents as well as tourist visitors and event participants. It should not be out of line, however, to suggest that the two events generate at least $100,000 in income to the local economy, over just one weekend.

The organizers of the hockey tournament have been pressured by the enthusiastic participants to expand to a third tournament of this magnitude to accommodate Bantam (14 yr. old) age groups. They have indicated their intention to do so, and they would schedule it for mid-December - when the extra business would be most appreciated. A large concern in firming up this proposal will be the amount of assistance they can get to stage the event.

The importance of running carnivals, bonspiels, and tournaments has been pointed up this winter. Without good weather to draw visitors we rely completely on such attractions to create this activity. It takes a lot of volunteer help to stage these events, all the way from the principal organizers to the folks who billet a pair of boys for the weekend. Those that have contributed their time and effort need not only appreciation, but more help from those that have not done so. Our economy depends on it.

Chamber publications

The Chamber's new "Winter Book" is now in circulation, the "Year Round Directory" is in the hands of the printer, and our second annual "Building Trades Directory" is now being prepared. This directory was considered an unqualified success last year, and even more improvements will be put into effect this year. It will be published once again in time for distribution at the Toronto Sportsman Show as well as locally. All those involved in the Building Trades who are members of the Chamber are listed and can advertise in this handy book.

The copy deadline for this publication is February 15 and we would invite anyone interested in participating that is not already a Chamber member to contact the Chamber office (286-1760) for more details.

New "Cottage Country" book

The Ministry of the Environment has prepared and published a very informative book entitled "Cottage Country" which has details on water purification, water quality, pesticides, garbage disposal and sewage disposal for all residents on or near lakes. A quantity of these books have been made available to the Chamber and you are welcome to drop in and pick one up. -- Don't forget we are open weekends now.

The word is out

A consulting firm recently took a survey which included the question "Where do you prefer to cross country ski in Ontario?" Over 50% of the cross country enthusiasts polled answered Haliburton Highlands. That would suggest there is a huge market out there wanting to be tapped!

Cottager meeting planned

A seminar of interest to cottage owners will be held in late March in Toronto. The meeting will deal with road allowances and the "foot reserve".

The meeting is sponsored by the Ontario Federation of Ontario Cottagers' Association (FOCA). An explanation of the new policy will be given at that time.

According to FOCA spokesman A.O. Shingler, "Frank Miller, Treasurer of Ontario, James Auld, Minister of Natural Resources, and myself have been working on this new policy for three years." He commented, "Both ministers deserve full marks for their co-operation in bringing this antiquated act up to date."

The meeting will be held March 29 from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. at Garden Public School, Sheppard and Yonge Street, Toronto.

Minden requests bounty review

If the discussion Wednesday evening is any indication, a lively debate is in store for county council when they consider a resolution passed by Anson, Hindon and Minden township council Wednesday night.

The Minden council has recommended, by a vote of two to one, (Len Lonsberry was absent) that the county review the practice of paying a wolf bounty. The resolution passed with Councillors Stu Brandon and Lyle McKnight voting in favour and Deputy Reeve Douglas Pritchard vigorously opposed.

Pritchard stated that he was strongly in favour of maintaining the present system of paying a $25 bounty for each wolf destroyed. "I'm 100 percent in favour of the bounty," he declared, "because wolves destroy other fur bearing animals." He indicated that wolves are often responsible for destroying animals caught in traps, rendering the pelts useless.

The Deputy Reeve also said the wolves were responsible for the decline in the deer population in Algonquin Park.

Under the bounty system, the county pays a hunter or trapper $25 for each wolf carcass brought for claim. The inspection of the carcasses, to ensure the animal is a wolf and that it has not been used for a claim elsewhere, is carried out by the by-law enforcement officers in each of the municipalities. The officers are required to mark the fur, usually by cutting a line between the eyes, so the same carcass cannot be used in another township for a second claim.

The members of the council seeking a review of the bounty regulations suggested a number of reasons for their request.

Councillors Stu Brandon said the price of wolf pelts, now over a hundred dollars, should be enough to encourage the taking of the animals by trappers. He said that by paying the extra $25 for the bounty, the county was actually subsidizing the work of the trappers.

Reeve Sinclair Nesbitt also pointed out that the Ministry of Natural Resources had stopped paying the bounty because they had found it to be ineffective in controlling the size of the wolf population.

The reeve also said that the suggestion the wolves are responsible for the reduction of the deer was untrue. "Hunters twist the world to suit them," he commented. "They are pursuing the deer with more sophisticated weapons, using dogs and other methods to bring their deer out of the bush. Then they blame the drop in the deer population on wolves." He said the use of dogs results in the deer being "herded like sheep" to locations where the hunters are standing.

Councillor Lyle McKnight suggested that the decrease in the deer herd may be due to grazing pressure from the moose population.

Councillor Brandon commented, "I'm not quite against the deer hunt. But I am surprised when hunters keep taking more and more deer and then wonder where all the deer have gone."

Reeve Nesbitt suggested that when the first bounty legislation was passed at county council, that the matter passed as part of a "friendship deal" among the various councillors. He said he had overheard several speaking after the meeting saying they could not explain why they had voted in favour of the bounty.

The Minden resolution will be placed on the February agenda of the county council.

Cottage robbed

During the week of January 13-20, a cottage on the Irondale River in the Furnace Falls area, was broken into.

The thief gained entrance through a window and took a refrigerator, a chainsaw, the fireplace, and other household items valued at $1620.

The owner of the cottage is Lorne Devouge, a Scarborough resident.

Constable Mike Maher investigated the break-in.

Highway 519 collision

A 1979 pick-up truck collided with a 1972 model car on Highway 519 near Haliburton January 22.

The driver of the pick-up truck apparently lost control of his vehicle on a curve, while travelling south, resulting in a collision with the oncoming car.

The car was driven by David R. Kennedy, it sustained $500 damage, while Christopher Hodgson's truck will cost $600 to repair.

The investigating officer was Constable Bill Clendinning.

Unity service

Father Leahy, of Our Lady of Fatima Roman Catholic Church in Minden delivers the sermon during the service of Christian unity. The Thursday evening gathering at St. Paul's Anglican Church drew Christians of all denominations to the ecumenical service. Also participating in the service were ministers representing the various faiths in the community.

Hydro seeks exemption from by-law

A request from Ontario Hydro to be exempt from certain provisions of the local planning and zoning by-laws received a luke-warm reception from councillors. Mr. Oehm of the provincial utility addressed the council on the matter at the January 23 meeting.

Oehm told the councillors that his request was prompted by a specific planning by-law, that governing the development of the subdivision on Minden Lake, but that he felt any decision the council took should apply to all such by-laws.

The Hydro spokesman said he was concerned that the by-law required the review by the municipal council of any plans to change Hydro activities in the subdivision. He noted that a major power line crosses the subdivision now and the utility would be forced to return to council for approval if it wanted to expand its right-of-way or construct a building. "We would have to come to you for every little approval," Oehm stated.

He pointed out that under the Environmental Assessment Act (EAA), the utility is required to present its plans to the local council as part of an environmental assessment hearing process. Oehm said this could mean returning to council meetings five times or more to explain and finally obtain approval of the council for a change. He said that having to return to council meeting to further justify the actions of the utility under a municipal by-law review procedure, would only add to the delay experienced by the utility. Oehm said he felt the review provided by the environmental assessment hearing would be enough to satisfy the requirements of council.

Reeve Sinclair Nesbitt suggested, "All Ontario Hydro wants is a free hand to do what ever it wants."

Oehm replied that this presumption was untrue.

Nesbitt said the council wants to know what Ontario Hydro is "up to". The reeve commented, "We want to know where you are going and when." He said it would not be difficult for Hydro to approach council with its plans.

Oehm pointed out that under the provision of the Environmental Assessment Act, the utility will have already approached council five times on a particular matter. "We have so many hoops to go through. That is our dilemma," the Hydro spokesman stated. He pointed out that any changes to the official plan, which may be needed in certain instances, will require approval by some 34 different departments in the provincial government. "The result," he told the meeting, "is lengthy delays."

The Hydro spokesman said the utility was very conscious of its responsibility for the protection of the environment. "More often than not we go beyond the provisions of the EAA," Oehm commented.

He also suggested that zoning changes, which could be required for hydro work, might become bogged down in hearings because one person, "with a petty beef" decided to object to a plan. Under the provisions of the zoning by-law, any request for a change must be circulated to property owners within a 400 foot radius of the change. Anyone voicing an objection to the change can demand an Ontario Municipal Board hearing to air his complaint.

Councillor Stuart Brandon commented that these delay and review procedures are built into the system to allow the citizens to have a say about the activities of their governments. He asked the representative whether land owners within a 400 foot radius are made aware of the proposed changes under the provisions of the Environmental Assessment Act.

Oehm replied that while advertisements will be placed in a local newspaper, there is no requirement that each land owner be contacted by mail or personally, as with a zoning change.

"We have dealt with groups of people who feel this sort of contact, by letter or personal contact, is not enough," Brandon commented. Brandon also pointed out that the council would not be adverse to dealing with Ontario Hydro applications under the EAA in one or two meetings, rather than the five suggested by the representative.

Reeve Nesbitt noted that the municipal review of zoning changes was part of the Haliburton County Planning Strategy, a document, he pointed out, which had been approved by 34 provincial government departments. He said that since this approval had been received and since the planning strategy had been adopted, the council would be reluctant to approve any changes that would undermine it.

The councillors requested time to examine the planning strategy in detail in light of the Ontario Hydro request and said they would notify the utility of their decision.

Hydro's pitch

There was an attempted smash and grab incident Wednesday evening at Minden township council, but it appears to have been foiled.

The culprit was Ontario Hydro. The potential victims were the residents of the township. The prize, the rights of citizens to be heard.

A Hydro spokesman appeared before the council seeking exemption from by-law provisions which require the utility to apply to municipal council for zoning and planning changes. The spokesman said the procedure was cumbersome and was a duplication of the presentations the utility would make under the Environmental Assessment Act.

What was ignored by the Hydro spokesman was the protection the average citizen receives through the processes which must be taken for a zoning change. Landowners within 400 feet of the proposed change must be notified in person or by registered mail. They have the right to object to the activity and in doing so, force the Ontario Municipal Board to hold a hearing into the objection.

The Hydro representative implied that this process was abused by those with petty beefs and can result in lengthy delays in the plan of the utility. On the other hand, the spokesman admitted hearings are held under the Environmental Assessment Act, but there are not provisions for notification of the adjacent land owners. Nor is there a guarantee that a hearing, similar to that provided under the municipal act, will be provided for citizens to air their complaints. The Environmental Assessment Act does involve hearings, but the right of the citizen to be heard is less clearly defined than under the zoning change provisions.

The members of council seemed to be aware of what was being attempted. While they did not reject the proposal outright, it was obvious none were too enamoured by the suggestion.

Any action that reduces the rights of citizens to be heard deserved to be turfed-out as quickly as possible. There has been enough erosions of the average man's ability to object and confront those who would run his life without giving away more.

It is time to say no to Ontario Hydro.

Your kind of party

by Hal Burton

Well, I certainly didn't mean to leave you all standing there with your mouths agape in breathless precipitation for so long. Indeed, I have indeed been somewhat turtle-like or laxative in following-up on my report in December that I will, and do truly intend to, seek your vote in the forthcoming federal election. Fear not, for, during the next few weeks I shall make it all up to you, faithful readers and supporters, as I lay my platform down, pick up the pieces and knock the opposition flat.

I stand here before you with my candidacy in my hand. What, and I certainly recognize that as a question of ineptitudinal value, could ever persuade or cajole a man of my breadth and intellectual reserve, to step forward into the political ring, you ask? The answer my friends, and I do not hesitate to reiterate or designate how you rate as my friends, is as plain as the noses on your face. Next question.

We are indeed facing grave crises both here, at home, and there, not at home. The country is in turmoil, inflation is out of control, big business and big labour is in control, unemployment is rabid. The cost of beer, wine, cigarettes and other essentials continues to soar.

On the international stage, things are even less better. The Russians have introduced blitzkrieg democracy to Halfagainstand while Aya Told Ya in Iran continues his style of captivating hospitality to United States visitors. Gold prices continue to follow the path traced by a toilet seat at a mixed party with substantial jumps being recorded every time Marshall Tito sneezes. What a mess, what a mess!

This is not the time for wishy washy, to tickle government. We need decision makers who know how to make up their minds. We need firm divisive leadership that will unify this county in its separate parts. We need representatives who are not afraid to stand up and be counted, who won't bulk at a challenge, or back down in the face of tough decision.

Recognizing these important factors, I am still willing to allow my name to stand for your seat.

For those who insist on parties, and those who know me well are well aware of my proclivity to Bacchanalian feasts, I stand before you today as the sole and only candidate of the Great Canadian Goose Party (GCGP).

My party organizer and I have been chosen as a living emblem of our great dream for this nation. After all, isn't that what this country really needs. The goose, winged bearer of this country's name, known coast to coast, an ideal symbol of what the political process is, or should be, in Canada. The goose is monogamous, industrious, mates for life, is easily identified by the distinctive noise it makes, flies in formation, can often be found begging for bread and heads south every winter. Are these not the very qualities we look for in our politicians, I ask you?

Therefore, with my Goose banner hoisted, as it were, on my own petard, I will march bravely onto the ballot battle field. In the ensuing weeks I

Report from Queen's Park

John Eakins MPP

I would like to continue my discussion in regard to the proposed Trespass to Property Act and the Occupiers' Liability Act.

Some reservations have been expressed about the new legislation, and it is important to make provision for the protection of "innocent" trespassers, such as children.

Can children be assumed to have willingly assumed all risks when entering premises, as provided in section 4 of the Act Respecting Occupiers' Liability?

Matters such as this will hopefully be ironed out, and the legislation has been referred to the Resources Development Committee for clause by clause consideration. It is anticipated that it will be returned to the House for third reading early in the forthcoming session.

Among the changes which farmers would like to see is a widening of the definition of occupier to include a tenant, because the number of tenant farmers is on the increase. They would also like the definition of premises to be expanded to include implements of husbandry.

Farmers have also suggested a fine of $25 for the first offence and $100 for the second, although a heavier fine would certainly be indicated where there is an element of criminality.

It has also been suggested that written permission or positive entry signing would be the only defence against trespass. The Ontario Federation of Agriculture rejects the proposal that trespass be determined by land status or by the land's current use. As far as colour coding of non-status land is concerned, farmers deem that to be impractical.

The OFA has recommended that posting not be necessary, although this is permissible if owners so wish. Part of the problem as far as the OFA is concerned is the non-existence of a code to specify the legal meaning of signs in current use. Experience has shown that signs are all too easy to remove. Farmers who have posted their property in the past have had signs torn down, and once again have found themselves liable if anything happens to a trespasser.

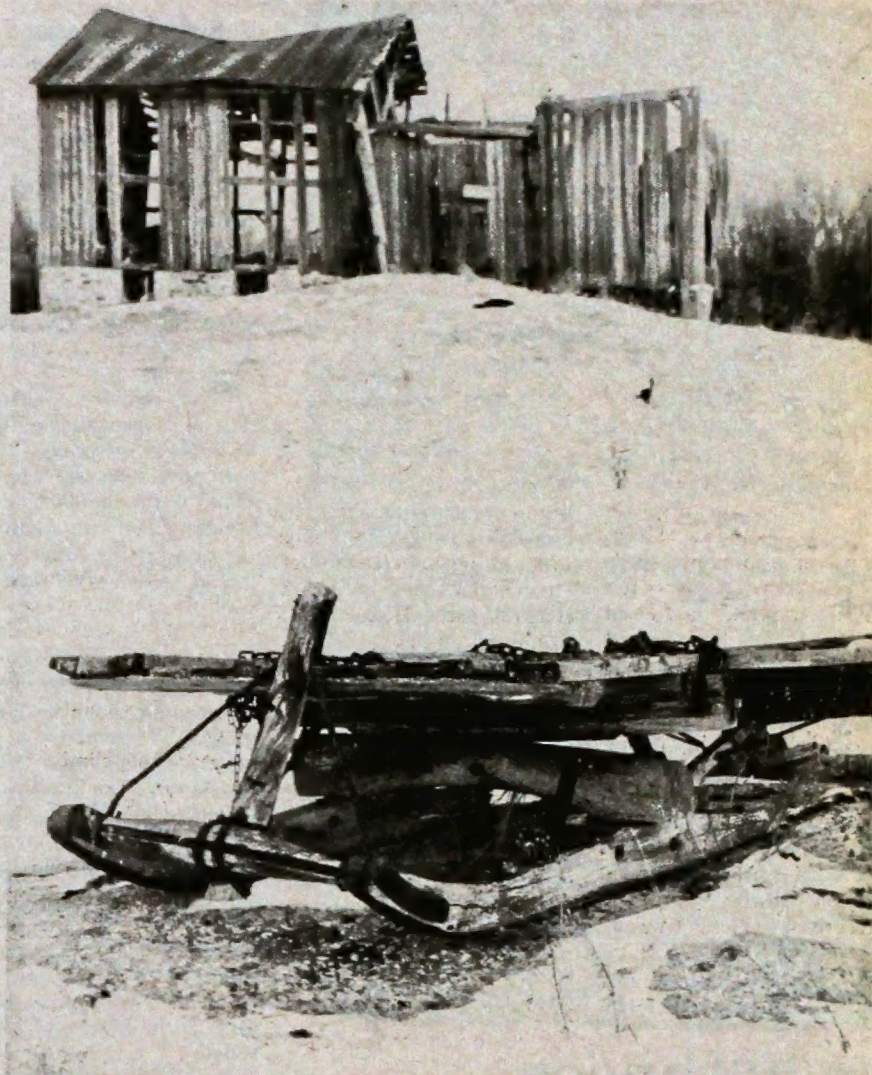

In addition, the federation has proposed that legal meaning be given to markings in two colours, red and yellow, and that farmers should not have the responsibility of posting their land. The posting of trails should be the responsibility of the organizations contracting for the trail use.

Since all land is not cultivated, farmers are concerned about forested lands. They are concerned about their woodlots, for example. In the summer, for instance, there could well be the danger of fire. Forested land should be treated the same way as cultivated land. Posting may be easier in this connection, but this should not be a reason for making it mandatory.

How is it that February, the shortest month on the calendar, can often seem the longest? Well, you can brighten some of these long winter evenings by planning your 1980 vacation. This year, why not consider a different kind of holiday - one of the small group tours offered by Canadian Nature Tours (CNT).

CNT is not your average travel service - first of all it's non-profit, and secondly it's oriented specifically towards people with an interest in nature. That doesn't mean you have to be an expert; in fact most of the 500 trip participants last year were amateurs looking for good company and a chance to learn more about nature. But it does mean that CNT trips will be leisurely, with lots of time to stop and smell the flowers; that the leaders will be experts, carefully selected for their knowledge, skills, and friendliness; and that groups are small, with ample time to question the leaders.

There's a trip to suit every interest, from week-long backpacking expeditions on Baffin Island to a leisurely spring cruise down the Trent canal by houseboat. A choice of 14 canoe trips in northern Ontario allows you a taste of the wilderness. Or you can explore the wild places of coastal British Columbia from comfortable hotels and buses, interpreted by an affable and knowledgeable geologist, Dr. Peter Peach. If photography is your interest, you can spend a week with Barry Ranford, probably the best nature photographer in Ontario.

Planning council ponders United Way option

Would Haliburton County residents support a United Way campaign? That was the question being asked at the regular meeting of the Haliburton County Social Planning Council held January 23 at Hyland Crest, in Minden.

A United Way spokesman addressed the members of the committee Wednesday morning about the establishment of such a program.

Under the United Way system, various charities agreed to participate in only one major canvass of the community each year. This is carried out under the United Way banner.

The group effort helps to reduce the cost of administering the various fund drives. It also reduces the number of canvassers needed and the number of times residents are solicited at the door.

The funds collected through a United Way campaign are then divided among the participating agencies under a formula devised prior to the start of the campaign. It was pointed out at the meeting that just over 12 cents of each dollar raised is used for administration purposes, the remainder being distributed to the participating agencies.

The members of the Social Planning Council appeared to be in favour of the United Way campaign effort, however they are seeking reaction from the community to the idea before attempting to begin such an operation here.

One disadvantage for participating agencies is that they tend to lose their individual identity when grouped together under a single banner. In some cases this may mean the loss of particular supporters who may not wish to contribute to the other organizations covered under the United Way banner. It also tends to reduce the "visibility" of certain charitable groups in the community.

United Way campaigns in other communities have raised funds for such groups as Big Brothers, Canadian Arthritis Society, CNIB, YMCA and the Salvation Army. A United Way campaign in Peterborough recently raised $512,644 for some 22 member organizations.

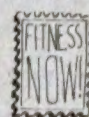

The United Way spokesman said the organization is not only interested in serving large communities, although that has been its main area of concentration in the past.

"We feel that people in smaller communities are more sensitive to the needs of those around them," the spokesman said. "In Estovan, Saskatchewan, for example," the spokesman said, "we collected $58,000 through the United Way. That community has a population of less than 5000."

It was pointed out that Haliburton County residents have an excellent record of contributing to various charitable organizations. The spokesman noted that with the population of less than 10,000, the area raised $5000 for the CNIB.

The members of the social planning council are interested in the views of the residents of the county and those of the various charitable organizations in the area, as to whether they would be willing to support a United Way campaign for the county. Comments should be directed to the members of the council.

McKnight new rec. chairman

The Minden Recreation Committee has a new chairman. Lyle McKnight was selected to succeed Norm Harrison in the post at the regular meeting of the organization held January 22.

The first meeting of the year also saw the selection of a new vice chairman, Ken Bannón.

The election of the new chairman did not pass without incident as committee member Bill Everston charged that the selection had been "fixed". He claimed that a group of committee members had already decided who would be elected to the head position.

The out going chairman Norm Harrison denied this charge.

At the end of the regular meeting Everston announced he was resigning from the committee. He offered no reason for his actions. However, Everston was later persuaded to remain with the committee and his resignation was withdrawn.

In addressing the committee for the last time as chairman, Harrison welcomed the selection of McKnight. "He is an experienced member of the township council," Harrison pointed out. He said McKnight would make an excellent chairman of the committee.

Harrison also welcomed to the committee a new member, Ross Warburton.

The retiring chairman had praise for all members of the recreation committee. He said the group had stayed very close to the budget predictions during the past year and that a holding fund had been established to meet any emergency expenses at the arena.

A letter of appreciation was sent to Norm Harrison for his efforts on behalf of the committee. He had served with the group since 1971.

"You worked diligently, and our new arena came into existence as a result of your past committee's efforts in which you were so actively involved," the letter of appreciation stated. Harrison had served as chairman of the committee since 1977.

Help sought from council

A request from the Ingoldsby Cemetery Board for the assistance of Anson, Hindon and Minden Township council in its efforts to expand the present facility was favourably received Wednesday evening. John Hill, a member of the board, made the presentation to the councillors January 23.

He told the group that the board had wanted to expand for a number of years and that land was now available to the east of the present site. He noted that if the municipality were to purchase the land on behalf of the board, no severance would be required to use the land for cemetery purposes. The added expense of the severance would be incurred if the board made the purchase on its own.

Hill pointed out that the board, which is responsible for the administration and upkeep of the cemetery in Ingoldsby, had been a benefit to the municipality. He noted however, that the group had felt "discriminated" against in the past. "The municipality had provided grass cutting services and other maintenance to cemeteries in the township last summer under a federal government employment program. We were not contacted as to whether we would have wanted to have the same services provided in Ingoldsby," the spokesman stated. Hill pointed out that the cemetery board paid some $200 for grass cutting and other maintenance at the Ingoldsby site last summer.

In citing these savings to the municipality, the board spokesman suggested the council should be willing to co-operate in the purchase of additional property for the cemetery.

Reeve Sinclair Nesbitt agreed with the spokesman that the board provided an excellent service for the municipality and that in managing and maintaining the Ingoldsby cemetery they had saved the municipality a great deal of money. "When we have a good board, like the one in Ingoldsby that is saving us money, we should give it all the support we can." He commended the board for not being a financial burden on the municipality and promised the council's co-operation in their efforts to obtain the extra property.

The additional land amounts to a 100 to 150 foot wide strip, to the east of the present property. The asking price, according to the spokesman, is $1000 an acre.

Weather collection

Environment Canada uses a variety of methods to collect weather data including: weather stations manned around the clock, unmanned stations with automatic recorders, reports from satellites in outer space, from ships on the oceans and international forecasts to provide sophisticated, computerized forecasts. Canada's weathermen also provide ice reports to ships, monitor air pollution movements, and study the ozone layer, all in the interest of knowing more about our environment.

High school report

The following report from Haliburton Highlands Secondary School was prepared by the principal, T.B. Mosgrove.

Although we are but halfway through the school year, your son or daughter is required to select a program for the 1980/81 school year by the end of February. The decisions that he/she and you make at this time affect not only the opportunities available to him/her upon graduation from secondary school, but also their future program at the secondary school. It is for these reasons that I encourage you to take a very active part in this process with your son or daughter.

The program selection process is begun with assemblies for students to review the course calendar. (a booklet which describes the proposed school program and diploma requirements in detail.) These assemblies will be held for all students during the week of February 11 and every student will receive a copy of the 1980/81 course calendar. These presentations are followed with a classroom visit by a member of the Guidance Department to deal with more specific concerns.

In addition, during the two week period from February 18 to February 29, department heads and/or subject teachers review specific subject or program paths and recommendations within their classes. All option sheets must be submitted by Friday, February 29.

Once the selection process is completed, the students' option sheets are analyzed with the results used to construct the timetable for the 1980-81 school year. Although the timetable is made up to accommodate the maximum number of student requests, it may be necessary, because of programming restrictions, for some students to reselect. When this occurs, a student will be contacted by the Guidance Department. It is important to note here that all student program selections and subsequent changes must be authorized by parents.

Although it is helpful for a student to have specific plans for his future education or occupation at this time, it is not essential and in fact sometimes not desirable. Regardless of future academic and/or vocational goals the following factors should be considered in subject selection.

1. A student should work at a level of difficulty at which he/she can be both successful and challenged.

2. Interest in an area often reflects past achievement as well as aptitude.

3. Predictions of future job availability are provided by various governments, but I would caution that these are only predictions and not guaranteed certainties. This type of information is available from the Guidance department.

If you wish any assistance or have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact me at the school at 457-2950.

The next three articles on February 6, 20 and March 5 will deal with the following post-secondary programs: Apprenticeships, Colleges of Applied Arts and Technology, and Universities. In all cases, it will be impossible in a brief article to give complete and specific detail, but rather an overview describing:

general admission requirements, procedures for application and sources of more specific detail will be given.

Huskies on top

by Grant Palmer

After defeating the Bewdley Rangers twice this past week, the Haliburton Huskies are sitting alone on the top of the Junior "D" league for the first time this season.

The pressure of being "the team to beat" will no doubt be on the Huskies' shoulders as they go to Bancroft to play the Jets on Friday, February 1.

On January 23, the Huskies squeaked by the Rangers, at Bewdley, by a score of 5-4. The match included star performances from Dave Brown and Joe Roberts, who scored two goals and got two assists each for the Huskies. Ernie Dufty, the captain of the Bewdley club, put out a strong performance by scoring two of his team's four goals.

Haliburton took the play to the Rangers early in the game. Dave Brown, who scored twice in the first period for the Huskies, got the first goal of the game at the 4:30 mark of the opening frame. Ernie Dufty tied it up for Bewdley, at 10:32, with an unassisted goal. Haliburton came right back with two more goals in the first period, to put them in front 3-1, as the first period came to an end.

The second period was drastically different. Bewdley came out flying, as Ernie Dufty put in his second of the night only 27 seconds into the period. The Bewdley team slipped two more pucks into the Haliburton net in the same period from the sticks of John McCloskey, and Dale Milson. Dale Milson's goal tied the game, after Joe Roberts had put Haliburton back into the lead 4-3, at the 14:58 mark.

The teams went into the third period tied 4-4, and neither gave the other much room for scoring chances. Craig Woods shut-out Bewdley in the third period with a solid effort, as the team captain Joe Roberts added the winning touch for the Huskies, at the 5:39 mark of the final period.

A 5-4 victory over a team that has only won four times out of 22 games normally would not be a cause for celebration. However, the win kept the Huskies in top place, and was special in that out of Bewdley's four victories, three have come against the Huskies.

The Bewdley Rangers paid an unfriendly visit to the Haliburton arena, on Saturday, January 26. After losing a close, tight-checking, fast-skating hockey game to the Huskies three days earlier, the Rangers felt they had to try another method if they were to beat them.

Hall gets new look

The Community Centre auditorium will be getting a new look in the next few months compliments of the Minden Rotary Club.

The club has offered to complete a redecoration program in the hall at the arena at no cost to the municipality. The plan was presented by Rotary Club member Ed Pergolas and accepted by the recreation committee at its regular meeting January 22.

According to Pergolas, the hall, "has the atmosphere of a hospital". He told the committee that the club would paint the walls, so that the colours match with the drapes. He also said the club would like to have graphic designs painted on the walls to add to the colour of the room. The trophy display case would also be moved from the west wall.

Pergolas told the members that the Rotary Club, which meets in the hall every Monday evening, would be willing to absorb the cost of the refurbishing, estimated at $845.

The committee agreed to the undertaking and requested that the club work with the arena manager in determining the location of the trophy case.

The bench in the penalty box was kept warm all game.

Haliburton received 38 minutes in penalties, while their rivals had players in the box for 44 minutes.

Bewdley's approach to the game was an obvious attempt to intimidate the Huskies by slowing down their top scorers. Unfortunately for Dave Brown he got most of the attention from the Rangers, with Howie Crowe being the main offender.

After only six seconds had ticked away from the opening faceoff, Crowe headed straight for Brown. Crowe heavily slashed Brown and after Brown had retaliated a fight broke out between the two players.

During all of the distraction there was some hockey being played. Haliburton's Joe Roberts opened the scoring with his first of three goals on the night 16:29 into the first period. Paul Clarke, one of the few players who did not receive a penalty during the entire game, tied the score at one goal with only 1:01 left in the period. The teams were still tied at one each when the battered players made their way to the dressing rooms at the end of the period.

Joe Roberts and Mike Scheffee each scored a power play goal late in the second period for Haliburton, after the Huskies had fallen behind by one, on a goal by Dale Milson. The two goals gave Haliburton a 3-2 lead and they never looked back.

In the third period Haliburton carried the momentum, and at the same time limited their retaliation to Bewdley infractions. As a result the Huskies played their most productive hockey of the game. Steve Davies, Joe Roberts, Chris Hodgson, and Dave Brown all pumped goals into the Bewdley net, as Haliburton skated away with a 7-2 crushing of the Rangers.

The win, which the Huskies literally fought for, gave them lone possession of top place with an impressive record of 14 wins, and 8 losses.

Minor hockey wants help with ice time costs

The Minden Minor Hockey Association is paying for ice time it is not using and would like the recreation committee to come to its aid.

The request was made at the committee's meeting January 22 by minor hockey representative Merv Barry.

According to Barry the association is required to give the arena personnel at least seven days notice when cancelling ice time reservations. He pointed out that this is not always possible as the out of town teams often call the day before a game to say they are unable to attend.

Minor hockey pays $18 per hour for the rental of the ice surface.

The minor hockey spokesman said the cost of the unused ice time is a drain on the organization's finances and that by the end of the season they may not have the money to cover the costs. So far the organization estimates it has paid out $200 in rental fees for time that wasn't used.

It was suggested that the responsibility for the cost of the ice rentals should rest with the teams that cancel. The recreation committee suggested that minor hockey pursue the matter directly with the teams or appeal to the Ontario Minor Hockey Association for assistance.

A formal motion was passed by the committee endorsing the proposal with the exception of cancellations caused by stormy weather.

Minden takes carnival contest

One of the many activities at the Minden Kinsmen Winter Carnival, was the Novice Hockey Tournament held at the Minden arena. The tournament took place on Saturday, January 26 and included six teams from northern Ontario.

The first game of the tournament separated the champions from the consolationists.

Minden won their first game, 5-0, over their county rivals, Haliburton. In winning this game, Minden qualified for the championship round.

In the other qualification games, Coldwater defeated Lakefield's "team I" 7-0, while Lakefield's "team II" was shut-out 11-0, at the hands of Bewdley.

Minden tied Coldwater 2-2, in the semi-finals of the championship round, however Minden was given the win because they scored the first goal. Since Minden won in the semi-finals they went on to play Bewdley in the championship finals. Bewdley, by the way, received a "bye" into the finals because they won a coin toss.

Minden won the championship game 4-1 over Bewdley to become the novice tournament champions. The victorious Minden club won the Kinsmen Trophy and medallions supplied by Modern Electric.

Haliburton were named the novice tournament consolation winners by defeating Lakefield's "Team I" 6-2, and Lakefield's "Team II" 8-1, in the consolation, semi-final, and final games.

The Haliburton club received the Eric Coulter trophy and medallions. The Bewdley players received the Porter Award Trophy and medallions for being the runner-up to Minden in the championship.

At Bobcaygeon, on January 26, Minden crushed Aurora 8-0. The goal scorers for Minden were Ron Yake with a hat-trick while Harold Porter put two pucks into the Aurora net, and singles by Ivan Ingram and Brent Moxam.

Juveniles

Minden (team I) won both their contests on the weekend, downing Bobcaygeon by scores of 5-4, on Friday, and 4-2 on Sunday. During the first game, which was played in Bobcaygeon, Tim Davies, Corey Walker, Kim Hamilton, Greg Carpenter, and Pete Johnson, scored to give Minden the one-goal victory. In Minden, on January 27, Minden defeated Bobcaygeon 4-2, with goals coming from Dave Shapiera, Tim Davies, Shaun Silvers, and Roger Hicks.

With these two victories the Minden (team I) Juveniles lead the best-of-five play-off, two games to none.

NOTE: (Team II) series with Coldwater is yet to be arranged.

Up-coming games

Saturday February 2 - 3:00 p.m. Manvers at Minden Atoms.

Saturday, February 2 - 4:00 p.m. Sunderland at Minden Pee Wees.

Snowmobile clinic Saturday

Fine tuning will be the subject this Saturday (February 2) at Minden Marine and Automotive as the Haliburton County Snowmobile Association in co-operation with John Deere presents a special workshop.

The all-day event, which begins at 10 a.m., will deal with tracks, carburetors and clutches. Experts will be on hand to offer advice and make minor adjustments to those machines needing them.

In addition, the snowmobile association will be sponsoring a shop and swap day for the snowmobilers in the county. Those with used clothing, spare parts or other snowmobile related paraphernalia can bring them to trade or sell.

Rolling into summer

The Minden Recreation Committee will once again be sponsoring roller skating this summer. The group approved the move at the January 22 meeting.

Skating this year will begin in early June and end with the return to school in September. Last summer was the first time the committee has provided roller skate rental and the activity proved to be a popular attraction.

Arena manager Brian Sisson recommended that the committee acquire 150 pairs of skates to rent during the summer. The only firm providing the skate rental service, Company Dominion, will be providing the re-conditioned boot skates again.

Clock

The Recreation Committee has also agreed to look for a replacement for the present timer and scoreboard. According to the arena manager the present mechanism is becoming undependable and repairs to put it into shape could cost $1000 or more.

The committee suggested that the arena manager obtain prices from the various clock manufacturers and speak to other arena managers for recommendations.

AROUND THE TOWN

by Jeanne Sears

What a grand weekend! Cold but sunny and bright and the crowd was certainly here. The parade was good with winner being Silver Birches. The Carnival ladies were senior Queen Lori Rolfe, and her princess Nancy Kinsman and Junior Queen was Tara Davies and her princess was Glenda Newell. The Official Opening was on time and at the stage beside the Centre. Near there were the free sleigh rides with driver Ingram Wessell and also free rides up and back from town on the Deacon Bus. The M.C. was Bill Payne doing a fine job of that, and the competitors in federal election Bill Scott and Ivan Rodd joined forces to make a cut in the log ready for that contest. During the weekend tickets were sold on a 50-50 draw with winner being Ken Taylor of Lindsay. We took in several of the Novice Games and the winners were Minden's team, also thought the refereeing was excellent. The Kinsmen Club are to be congratulated on a well-planned and executed slate of events.

The Canadian Knight Drum Corp was the Band in the parade and following that ladies of the U.C.W. catered a luncheon for them.

The community sends good wishes to these people at Hyland Crest having birthday Ellen Johnston Feb. 1, Ellen Knight, Feb. 6, William Deacon, Feb. 11 and Bill Hounsell, Feb. 16. Also belated good wishes to Mrs. S. Ackerblade whose birthday was January 28.

Sincere sympathy goes to the families and friends of the late Dale Smith and Raymond Fulcher who died suddenly over the weekend.

Mrs. Ted Johnston, Ray Ruth and Karen Strong all of Scarborough spent the weekend with her mother Mrs. Fred Wright.

At the weekly Mini Card Party at the Parish Hall last Thursday afternoon winners were for cribbage Luther Wilson and Lilian Davidson and for euchre lone hands Shirley Elcome, May Wright and Johann Beattie.

Colin Hewitt of Toronto surprised his mother Mrs. Ern Hewitt and spent the weekend with her.

Their friends send good wishes to Mrs. Kathryn Daniel at St. Josephs Hospital Peterborough and to Wayne Walker at Ross Memorial and to Jean Kent who has been at Civic Hospital Peterborough.

Glenda Stamp of Whitby and Glen Stamp of Oshawa spent the weekend in the village.

Mike Bird of Peterborough enjoyed the weekend with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bird.

Mr. and Mrs. J. McIsaac of Scarborough spent the weekend with the Jim Burtons.

Sunday guests with the Bill Moores were the Al Brydsons of Bracebridge and the Earl Birds.

We hear that measles and scarletina have been going the rounds at the high school with many students unable to write their exams. These diseases are going in the cities as well.

Guests over the weekend with the Milton Sears included Sandra Sears and Muriel Ewing and boys of Toronto and the Paul Warburtons.

Just a reminder, the Library-Museum-Art group are meeting on January 31 at 8 at the Municipal Office upstairs.

Several tragic accidents over the past weekend, we wish everyone would check the trails for snowmachines especially if not familiar with the country. Not very much snow as yet, but really cold and windy last week. Cheerio until next time.

SENIOR LEAGUE

Every chair was filled at Fun and Fitness on Monday morning. We had a good session exercising to music and playing games.

In the afternoon, the ladies were busy knitting and working on different projects in the Craft room. Our showcase is starting to look better, with a few more items for sale. The gentlemen went to the auditorium with Mr. Lloyd Coleman to play carpet bowling. After the game the men joined the ladies for tea and cookies.

Tuesday morning Reverend Don Nicholson of the United Church held services in the Chapel. Mrs. Agnes Taylor was here to play the organ for us.

We viewed two very interesting movies after lunch. "Austria Today" told us how Austria has been rebuilt after being badly depressed by the last war.

"The Final Ingredient" showed us how advanced technology has changed our lives. Also we saw how excessive alcohol consumption, smoking and drug abuse has affected our health.

Thursday morning, we had a special guest visit us at Fun and Fitness. Lil Rawlins dropped in to say hello and she was really thrilled to see the new faces as well as the old familiar ones. Also Fern Donnelly who has been vacationing in Hawaii was back with us. She was telling us how she survived a hurricane, while on the island, apparently the worst they have experienced in 30 years. It is nice to have Fern back with us safe and sound.

The Carnarvon United Church Women served a delicious variety of tea biscuits with cheese and jam, squares and loaf cake. Everyone enjoyed very much this tasty lunch and visiting with these ladies, whom many of the residents know very well.

Mrs. Isabella Avery paid tribute to Robbie Burns on Friday morning at Fun and Fitness. She sang "The Banks of Loch Lomond" in very fine voice. Isabella is a native of Scotland.

Friday afternoon Mrs. Ruth Thompson of Lutterworth Pines came to play the piano while we gathered around the fire in the main lounge for a sing song. We enjoyed Mrs. Thompson's music and look forward to having her play for us again in the future.

We have been very busy this week preparing for the Carnival Parade on Saturday. Our theme this year is "The Good Old Days" and our float consists of a horse and cutter.
